Noble Ruler Report

Greetings Brothers,

I would like to start by introducing myself. My name is Cale Gent, and I am a Junior majoring in Agronomy and minoring in Agriculture Systems Technology. I have the privilege of serving as the 2018 Noble Ruler of Eta Chapter. I had the opportunity to serve as the VNR of House Operations Management for 2017 and was able to be a part of a successful year of growth here in the hallowed halls of 201 Gray. I am excited to have the opportunity to lead our 2018 team through another year of growth and prosperity!

As we have tied up the loose ends of the fall semester, we have a lot to be proud of. This fall, we welcomed a class of 26 new initiates from Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Brazil! We look forward to seeing what these young men can accomplish in their years here at Iowa State. We received 4th place in homecoming festivities this year while partaking in a new event. Due to our Second Century House Expansion, we were unable to participate in lawn display, but that did not dampen the spirits of our men as we took first place in the parade float competition!

As we look on to this coming spring semester, our members have an extremely busy schedule ahead of them. Alex Brand and Wesley Reeve will be serving as President and Vice President of CALS Council, and many other members have earned CALS Representative Positions for several of their respective clubs. We also have members holding leadership positions in Collegiate Beef Team, Forestry Club, Farm Operations Club, Fishing Club, Block and Bridle, Alpha Zeta, Bacon Expo, Relay for Life, Wrestling Club, as well as the Interfraternity Council.

Our senior class is beginning their preparations for life in the real world, with more and more of them accepting full time positions each day. Test Engineering with Kuhn, Grain Trading with Gavilon, Soybean Merchandising for AGP, Corn Production Management for Pioneer, and Chemical Sales Representative with Dow Agro Sciences are just a few on the growing list. Wyatt Forsyth will be student teaching this coming semester at Gilbert High School in their Agriculture Education Program to finish his Agricultural Education degree. Thomas Wilgenbusch will be furthering his career in the United States Army. We also have several brothers returning home to expand their family farming operations. We wish these men success in their future, and we are proud to call them Brothers of Alpha Gamma Rho. This year, we will be approaching our Founder's Day celebration a little differently. It will be held in the hallowed halls of 201 Gray on Saturday, February 10th in conjunction with the Iowa State vs. Oklahoma State basketball game. The ceremony will take place in the morning with lunch, a watch party, and open house in the afternoon for those that would like partake. We hope to see everyone there to celebrate another great year for Alpha Gamma Rho!

On behalf of the active chapter, I hope you had a safe holiday season and look forward to seeing you at Founder's Day February 10th!

Fraternally,

Cale Gent "2231"

Scholarship Report

Hello, my name is Nathan Yeager, and I am the new VNR of Scholarship. I am pleased to share that the men of AGR have had another successful fall academic semester. The cumulative GPA of the house was 3.28, which put us well above the Iowa State University men's average of 2.99. Unfortunately, we do not yet know where we placed academically within the Greek community as we are waiting on an official report. However, we did have thirty-five Brothers make the Dean's list which has a requirement of at least a 3.50 GPA. Brothers have been thankful for all the academic resources that we offer, including our continually growing book library sponsored by Alumni, full tutoring reimbursement paid for by Alumni, as well as the many scholarships available to the active Brothers.

Thirty-two brothers were fortunate enough to receive a combined $25,000 in Legacy Fund achievement grants at our Fall Homecoming ceremony. As the renovation and addition finishes up, Brothers are excited to use the new areas and resources for studying, group projects, and meetings. Our academic resources and performance will continue to be great recruiting tools for us to bring the best young men into 201 Gray.

IT IS ALMOST DONE!

It is hard to believe that the fall semester is over and the remodel/addition to the house is almost complete. Construction has been a part of life at 201 Gray since last spring and it is almost unreal that it will soon be done. The house is beautiful.

It is such a joy to eat in our lovely dining room and know that all 90+ members easily fit with room to spare. We all love the square tables that seat eight, the charming windows, the additional cabinet and counter space, and the very attractive and resilient terrazzo floor. Chef Mike truly appreciates his extra room and the fact that all of his supplies are now only steps away.

The chapter room is one of my favorite rooms. It is so light and airy with all of the windows, doors, and outside patio. It is a bright and open space that will serve many purposes. The new front entrance to AGR is pretty spectacular. Again it is an open, bright space. This spacious area contains a large staircase, beautiful windows and doors, and, of course, AGR logos. It is both impressive and welcoming. The formal living room is simply beautiful. The fireplace is pretty much as it always has been, however the backside is now exposed brick. Everything else is new, starting with beautiful windows on 3 sides of the front of the room and a glass enclosed board room on the west side. The flooring is a combination of hard wood and carpet. There are numerous other improvements and additions that include an enlarged laundry room, new study rooms, added storage, and things I am sure I am not thinking about. Oh yes, how could I forget that for the first time AGR is a fully air-conditioned house. It has been a journey that started last spring with the demolition and construction that continued throughout the summer and fall. It is now time to enjoy both the beauty and improved functioning of the house.

It is also time to become even more aware of the responsibility to respect and take care of this beautiful place. Finally, it is time to thank Shamus Brown, Mike Nissly, Eric Peterson, and the rest of the Second Century Campaign contributors that made this transformation possible. We appreciate your tireless involvement that insured the project reflected not only sound construction and beautiful design but also the pride and value AGR alumni place in this house. Please stop by soon as we are anxious to show it off.

Eta: A Consultant Perspective

Alpha Gamma Rho's meaning to me has continued to evolve throughout my time as a collegiate member in Alpha Zeta at Kansas State University and while serving as a Consultant on the National Fraternity Staff. One of my first experiences with another chapter, outside my own, was a roadtrip to Ames, IA for Farmageddon. Staying at the chapter house, tailgating and creating memories with Eta Chapter brothers gave me insight what Alpha Gamma Rho looked like outside my chapter's walls.

In my current role with the AGR Home Office, I have had the privilege of working with Eta Chapter for the past two years. While my visits to 201 Gray look quite a bit different than my first visit, the welcoming hospitality and genuine brotherhood remain the same. I have continued to be impressed with Eta Chapter collegiate and alumni leadership. A constant desire for self and chapter improvement exists not only within collegiate members, but also in my interactions with Chapter Advisers, Alumni Board and Mom Diane. One clear example, each chapter officer coming prepared to my one-on-one meeting, pen in hand, asking questions on how Eta Chapter can improve.

In my most recent visit this semester, I had conversations with collegiate and alumni members that may be insightful for a larger Eta audience to hear. There are many strengths to Eta Chapter and I want to briefly compare them to our chapters across the US. I believe strongly in leveraging our strengths, rather than focusing on weaknesses, to help make our chapters the best they can be.

Senior Leadership is one of Eta Chapter's biggest strengths that I believe can sometimes be taken for granted. Eta's strong sense of tradition may cause this comment to seem strange. As a national fraternity movement, not just within Alpha Gamma Rho, we are witnessing more and more seniors become disengaged from their chapter experience, move out of their facilities, choose not to run for chapter office and leave a vacuum of knowledge and wisdom. As a Consultant I have seen this trend across the country.

While the renovations to the chapter facility can transform it, I believe the biggest attribute this chapter house offers is the ability to house the whole of chapter membership. Currently, there is no other AGR chapter who houses their entire chapter membership under one roof. This provides so many benefits in brotherhood, sense of belonging and engagement of chapter members. I hope Eta Chapter will continue the trend of expecting members to live in your facility.

Iowa is a hub for agricultural production. Many Eta alumni graduate from Iowa State and remain within state borders because opportunities are abundant. This coupled with a chapter who is over 100 years old means Eta alumni are everywhere and engaged. The sense of duty is admirable among alumni with their contributions of time, talent and treasure.

Eta Chapter continues to be a role model chapter for our National Fraternity. I have no reason to believe that if we lean on our strengths, don't take them for granted, and continue to strive for self-improvement, we will continue to watch Eta Chapter prosper. I am extremely privileged to work with Eta Chapter and I hope I will continue to have that opportunity in the future.

VNR of Recruitment

Hello, my name is Peyton Boyle and I am the new VNR of Recruitment. As break comes to an end, the new recruitment team is excited to get back and continue to reach out to prospective members. This past fall, we had the opportunity to give many house tours and communicate through phone calls with prospective members that are in their Senior year of high school, as well as students that are already here at Iowa State. Our main focus in this next semester is to find names of prospective members for the Fall New Initiate Class of 2018. However, if you know any Juniors in high school that you think would be a good fit for Eta Chapter and believe that we should take a look at them, please reach out to us with their information by filling out the Alumni Recommendation Form on the ISU AGR website.

We are looking into the possibility of having a Summer Recruitment Chair or a Summer Recruitment Committee that would travel around the state of Iowa with the goal of meeting and interacting with high schoolers before they begin their Senior year of high school. This will help us inform prospective members about what Alpha Gamma Rho is and allow us the opportunity to set the precedent as to what we are expecting with membership. Alpha Gamma Rho is looking for individuals that were successful academically, involved in high school activities, socially interactive, and most importantly, we're looking for self-motivated, individuals who are willing to put in hard work to succeed. By beginning to recruit potential new members in their Junior year, it will give those students that may be struggling with a specific area in which we place importance time to work to improve. It will also serve as a resource to the high schoolers that are interested in the house and provide them with answers about the transition from high school to college. Again, please feel free to call or email the me at any time with names and/or contact information of prospective members. You, as alumni, play an extremely important role in helping us to build our list of Potential New Initiates.

Alumni Spotlight

John “Jack” Nissly “500” Major: Agricultural Economics

In this edition of the Crescent, we will be highlighting the oldest living Brother of Eta Chapter, Jack Nissly. Brother Nissly is originally from Dallas County, Iowa. He first came to Iowa State University in the fall of 1945, where he began his studies within the ISU’s Pre-Veterinary program. Jack’s college experience was probably a little different than most. In 1945, World War II was nearing its end, however, the draft was still very prevalent. When Jack turned 18 in 1946, he enlisted in the United States Marine Corps and left for California for a year and a half. When Jack returned to Iowa State in the spring of 1948, he changed his major to Agricultural Economics and met his soon-to-be wife, Mary Lou, during summer classes in Beardshear Hall. Brother Nissly went on to graduate from Iowa State, marry his sweetheart, Mary Lou, a former Delta Zeta member, and after a few years, he ended up in the town of Iowa

Falls where he was a fundamental part in starting Nissly & Nissly, a professional tax and accounting firm. He still works alongside two of his sons, Mike and Roger Nissly. When Jack spoke of his time in the house, he knowingly stated, “Those guys in the House are lifetime friends; you do everything together... everything from the highs to the lows.” The one memory that he will never forget was “pinning” Mary Lou. “Pinning” is now known as “lavaliering”, which as most of you know, is essentially the Greek form of a promise ring. Jack left me with one last piece of advice that really made me realize how lucky we are to be a part of this house, and that is: “I can’t give you guys any better advice than what you are already doing; AFP is making these young men learn respect and being courteous to everyone, which is exactly what our world needs.”

Active Member Spotlight

The Brothers of Alpha Gamma Rho wish to congratulate Brother Mason Lettinga for his remarkable success on the Iowa State University Dairy Judging Team this year. Mason grew up on a dairy operation near Middleville, Michigan, and discovered his passion for cattle at a very young age. He first began judging through his local 4-H chapter, and he has maintained that passion for livestock at Iowa State by pursuing a degree in Animal Science and enrolling in dairy judging classes. This fall, Mason became a member of the ISU Dairy Judging Team. He competed in three judging expositions throughout the fall; condensing a standard judging year into a single semester. His incredible focus proved to be pivotal during his debut at the Accelerated Genetics Select Sires Intercollegiate Dairy Judging Contest, where he was awarded High Individual Overall, and placed first in Jerseys, and second in both Holsteins and Oral Reasons.

Lettinga also went on to compete at the World Dairy Expo Judging Contest in Madison, Wisconsin. After placing only second in Holsteins, seventh in Oral Reasons, and 17th Overall at the team’s second competition of the semester, Mason assumed a critical role in restoring the team morale. He encouraged those around him to stay committed and motivated. Despite the team’s morale issues, Mason advanced to the North American International Livestock Exposition in Louisville, Kentucky, where he placed first in both Brown Swiss and Oral Reasons, which earned him the title of Third High Individual Overall. Mason plans to remain in the dairy industry upon completion of his degree in Animal Science in 2020. After holding an internship with ABS Global as part of their Herd Genetics Division, he is strongly considering starting a career in either dairy animal health or genetics before returning to his family dairy operation. Mason is very excited for what next year has in store as Vice Noble Ruler of Planning and is also looking forward to inspiring other members of the house to become more involved in Iowa State’s judging programs.

Congratulations Mason,
Hans Riensche “2261”

Brothers Abroad

“Over the summer I had the amazing opportunity to go to Kenya with the World Food Prize. While I was there I got to do research with scientists from all over Africa. I got to see a completely different way of life while surveying farmers at their homes in rural areas. One of the most rewarding things was my ability to see another country by traveling to safaris, climbing mountains, and riding ferries.”

Jacob Schultz – “2279”

“I’m a senior in Ag Engineering, and I traveled to Sydney, Australia over winter break for my English 314 class. The real purpose, besides going to Australia, was to learn more about technical communication. While there I learned how to communicate with people that had totally different backgrounds than I did. This communication challenge will benefit me greatly when I enter the working world in May. Some of the fun things I did there are: canyoning in a rain forest, toured the Sydney Opera House, went skydiving, saw the Sydney Harbour New Year’s fireworks, and many more adventures. Also, thank you to John and Sandy Bonner for the scholarship to offset the cost!”

Grant Heineman – “2185”

“Over Thanksgiving break, I was lucky enough to join a soil science class traveling to the country of Uruguay in South America. Throughout the trip, we looked at soil types, soil erosion practices, and different farming practices throughout the country. Even though I was 5,000 miles away from home it was great to hear how proactive some countries are becoming with soil erosion practices. It was a great learning experience and I hope that other Brothers will go on this trip in the future.”

John Armstrong – “2189”

“Over winter break, I had the incredible opportunity to travel the United Arab Emirates. This opportunity was made possible in part by the Bonner International Travel Scholarship. Because of this scholarship, I was able to tour Islamic banks, the Jebel Ali Free Zone, and the Abu Dhabi Stock Exchange. We also visited many cultural and tourism sites, which included the Grand Mosque and the Burj Khalifa, the world’s tallest building. Thanks again to the Bonner Family for making this study abroad opportunity possible!”

Brandon Hanson – “2228”

“This past summer I worked in a rice gene function laboratory at The Chinese Academy of Agricultural Sciences in Beijing. During my internship, I mapped the genome of a malfunctioned rice variety to locate a mutation affecting leaf development. In addition, I partook in fieldwork to gain a better understanding of Chinese agriculture. Spending the summer overseas has greatly influenced a shift in my perspective of the world and has inspired me to pick up a double major in International Agriculture.”
